

Bokashi Academy

Now it's your turn! Start bokashi and connect with people around the world

Did you know that our products are used by people from all sorts of walks of life in more than 60 countries from all across the world? As such, chances are pretty high that you will not be the only one in your area. So, make sure to join the #bokashiloop community!

Aside from connecting with like-minded people and working towards establishing community composting, our forum also serves as a place to share your composting and sustainable living experiences, ask questions, and get answers.

So, join your tribe, and let's make an even greater impact together!
